

Jason B Harris Fellowship

ideSHi invites applications for the Jason B Harris Fellowship tenable from July 2020 for a period of one year. The fellow will carry out research on infectious diseases including enteric and respiratory and/or Covid-19 diseases. Applicants are expected to have academic/research background/experience in the related field as well as experience in laboratory and public health research and will need to have 5 published papers in peer reviewed journals. Shortlisted candidates will have to appear for an interview. The fellowship will include scholarship, and training that will enable the fellow to work on a defined project on a topic of current importance of emerging diseases. Applications must be e-mailed by 25 June, 2020 at the latest to the following address: info@ideshi.org

Number of position available:

1 position

Requirements:

Candidates must have at least MS/MBBS and an advanced degree PhD or MPhil or a relevant degree in the above mentioned field of study with 5 research publications. These conditions may be relaxed for candidates with higher qualifications and experience.